About Me

Some things about myself is that I like to draw a lot within my free time, I can be extroverted and really friendly around new people and friends, and I like to play games such as marvel rivals on my xobx. I also love to go out and explore and try new things keeping an open mindset to the world around me.

Projects

- A project that I have worked on is the making of a mini 3d city using angles and sizes within the project.
- Another project I did was a group assignment sldies where we presented if living in the ocean or space would be better.
- One last project I have done is another group project where me and my teammates had to present about a book.
